Air Jordan Shoes is set to launch several new iterations of the Air Jordan 1 heading into the holiday seasons and into the new year. The shoe features a Black upper constructed with a mix of satin and leather materials. Red accents are used on the tongue label, Wings logo and laces to give off a "Bred" vibe. A White midsole atop a Black rubber outsole completes the design. This pair was listed as the release scheduled for January 2020, but the color description doesn't seem to match.

New Air Jordans 2019 officially launched the first chapter of UNITE – a global campaign that celebrates a generation coming together to create an impact that goes beyond the game. The brand also unveiled a UNITE billboard featuring Zion Williamson and the New Orleans community outside of the Smoothie King Center. The campaign features Jordan Brand athletes including: Zion Williamson, Rui Hachimura, Kia Nurse, and Jayson Tatum.

Retro Jordan, While the Air Jordan 4 "Black Cat" has been confirmed to return in February 2020, it appears Jordan Brand will also be adding premium pony hair to a very similar release. This Air Jordan 4 features Black pony hair, which is actually bovine fur, covering majority of the upper with shiny plastic wings and eyelets. Matching tonal branding, netting and rubber sole with Nike Air on the heels completes the design.
